

Devis is a leading provider of Internet-enabled eGovernment applications to Federal, state, and local governments. We understand how to apply appropriate technology solutions to get the job done. From the New Freedom Initiative's DisabilityInfo.Gov to Department of Justice's DNA.gov, Devis has a proven track record in building and managing collaborative eGovernment web applications.

eGovernment Delivered

The Government knowledge and expertise needed to inform citizenry is usually spread across Federal Agencies and state and local governments. In collaboration with the Federal government, Devis pioneered open source technology to cost-effectively allow for distributed content management so that Agencies and experts can work together to present one view to the public.

Success Story - DNA.gov Collaboration for the Advancement of Justice

Devis recently developed DNA.gov using EZRO, an open-source content management system that allows subject matter experts in Federal agencies and national associations to contribute, collaborate on, share, and present content for the greatest benefit to the criminal justice system and the public they serve.

On the DNA.gov website you can:

- √ Find help on solving cold cases
- √ Read the latest news on the use of forensic DNA
- √ Access services for crime labs available through the President's DNA Initiative
- √ Find recommendations on postconviction testing
- √ Take online courses in using DNA evidence, principles of Forensic DNA and prosecution of DNA-related cases
